A FIREFIGHTER

Being a firefighter is one of the most respected and challenging jobs in the world. People often think that firefighters only deal with fires, but their work is much more complex. 1.....Every day brings something different, which makes this profession exciting but also unpredictable. A firefighter's day usually starts very early. When they arrive at the station, they change into their uniforms and check all the necessary equipment. The hoses, ladders, and oxygen tanks must always be ready for use. After that, they take part in training exercises or physical workouts because good fitness is essential in this job. 2.....Firefighters also spend time learning about safety procedures and visiting schools to talk to children. They teach how to behave if smoke fills a room, how to use a fire extinguisher, and why it's important not to play with matches. These lessons may seem simple, but they can protect people from real danger. When an alarm suddenly rings, everything changes. 3..... The sound of the siren means someone needs help. During an emergency, there is no time for fear - teamwork and communication are the keys to success. Each firefighter has a special role, and they must trust each other completely. The job is physically and emotionally demanding, but it gives great satisfaction. Firefighters often say that saving someone's life or protecting a family's home is the best reward they can imagine.

A HISTORIC RESIDENCE

Not many people can say they live in a place that looks like a castle, but some old residences in Europe have been turned into homes, hotels, or museums that let visitors experience a touch of the past. A residence is usually a large, elegant building where rich or important families once lived. Many of them were built hundreds of years ago, surrounded by beautiful gardens, fountains, and stone walls. 1.....One of these places is Greenhill Residence, located on the edge of a quiet town. The building is over two hundred years old and has been carefully renovated to keep its original charm. From the outside, it looks almost like a small palace - with tall windows, white columns, and a long driveway lined with trees. 2.....However, Greenhill Residence is not just a museum. The lower floors are open to tourists, while the upper part has been turned into a small hotel and restaurant. Guests can sleep in rooms decorated with old-style paintings but still enjoy modern comfort like Wi-Fi, hot showers, and air conditioning. 3.....The residence often hosts concerts, art exhibitions, and charity events. Locals love coming here to take photos, have coffee in the garden, or simply walk among the roses. For many people, Greenhill Residence is not only a reminder of the past but also a symbol of how old buildings can get a new life in the modern world.

A	Inside, visitors can admire high ceilings, crystal chandeliers and antique furniture.
B	In the evenings, soft music plays in the dining hall, and visitors can taste traditional dishes prepared with local ingredients.
C	Today, some of these impressive houses still stand proudly, telling stories about history, art, and family traditions.
D	Many students attend daily classes at Greenhill Residence to study modern architecture and computer science.
